CONGRESS IS AGAIN IN SESSION; MONTHS OF HARDEST WORK AHEAD

Both History and Political Capital to Be Made This Winter, Is the Prediction.

IN TRUSTS AND THE TARIFF BIG PARTY ISSUES FORESEEN

Exciting Struggles Assured in Both Houses Before Any Program of Legislation Can Be Written Upon the Statute Books.

EMBERS of both political parties predict that the first regular session of the Sixty-second Congress, which convened at noon today, will be one of the most momentous in history. Practically every member of each house was in his seat. The galleries were crowded and hundreds of people were unable to gain admission.

Many members discussed the expected speech of Representative Littleton of New York regarding the steel trust question. This was the sensaional incident featuring the opening day of Congress. "The most important session since the civil war," is the prediction made by many democratic leaders for the session.

Predict a Stirring Session.

"Stirring days ahead" are forecasted by republican members, and on both sides of the big party line members in the House and Senate are drawn up to fight out weighty problems of legislation in a session that will lead up to the presidential campaign of 1912.

Of importance as to the bearing it will have on the approaching political contest in the nation; of particular interest because of party differences-regulars and insurgents on the republican side; reactionaries and progressives among the democrats, and of unusual significance because of the heavy legislative program, it is at least certain that this will be one of the liveliest sessions of Congress in many years.

Tariff and Trusts Loom Large.

With the gavels falling in the House and Senate at noon th tariff and the trusts stood out as the most important subjects for legislation, with a big fight assured in both houses.

A committee consisting of Senators Gallinger of New Hampshire and Martin of Virginia and Representatives Underwood of Alabama, Cullop of Indiana and Mann of Illinois was designated by Congress to notify the President that both houses were in session. Stables and other buildings occupying
